CCJD No. 26-394

Christopher S.P. Gregory
The Gregory Law Firm LLC

Longmont, CO 80502

Dear Mr. Gregory:

On November 2, 2026, we received your request for evaluation (RFE) of judicial conduct as to all Colorado judges facing retention elections in 2026. On November 4, 2026, you supplemented your RFE to add two additional judges.

It is important for persons involved in court proceedings to understand that the jurisdiction of the Colorado Commission on Judicial Discipline is established and limited by the Colorado Constitution and further guided by the Colorado Rules of Judicial Discipline (Colo. RJD). Our website – ccjd.colorado.gov – provides a full description of the Commission's authority and procedures. The Commission is responsible for determining whether a state court judge has complied with ethical principles (or Canons) contained within the Code of Judicial Conduct (the Code). The Commission does not have jurisdiction to address appellate or administrative issues relating to judicial proceedings.

Specifically, Rule 13(c) of the Rules of Judicial Discipline provides that we cannot act on an RFE if:

> (1) The request does not allege sufficient grounds for disciplinary or disability proceedings;
>
> (2) The request disputes a Judge's rulings on motions, evidence, procedure, or sentencing; a Judge's findings of fact and conclusions of law; or other matters that are within the jurisdiction of the trial or appellate courts to resolve, without providing grounds for disciplinary or disability proceedings;
>
> (3) The allegations are frivolous; or
>
> (4) The allegations involve subject matter that is not within the jurisdiction of the Commission.

Colo. RJD 13(c).

COLORADO
Commission on Judicial Discipline

Here, the Commission must dismiss your RFE because "[t]he request does not allege sufficient grounds for disciplinary or disability proceedings." Colo. RJD 13(c)1. As such, we are unable to take any action in this matter other than providing this written response.

Please be advised that the Colorado Constitution and Colo. RJD 6.5 require our records and proceedings to remain confidential.

Sincerely,

Anne Mangiardi
